Downtown revitalization targeted

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A downtown neighborhood bounded by Niedringhaus Avenue, 19th Street, Adams Street, 24th Street and Madison Avenue will be targeted as the next area for revitalization, pending approval of the city council.

Economic Development Director Alan Orthals said Friday he and David Williams, neighborhood improvement coordinator, are "finishing up plans to make a recommendation" to the council at either the Feb. 28 or March 5 meeting. Orthals said he did not expect the proposal to meet with too much opposition.

"Of course, every alderman would like to see his or her ward targeted," Orthals said, "but we can't do them all at once. The downtown neighborhood is of strategic importance due to its impact on both the Wilson Park neighborhood and downtown commercial areas."

The downtown area, if approved, will be the second area targeted by the city for revitalization. In June of 1989, the city council allotted a large portion of its community development budget for a pilot program of neighborhood revitalization in East Granite.

That program, while still under way, has been characterized as a success by city officials and many of the area's residents.

The program is designed to pool public and private sources and concentrate them on a target neighborhood for a full year. Cooperation of residents is essential to the implementation of the plan. Orthals said the program works on the assumption people will improve their homes if they are provided the resources and motivation.

"Voluntary compliance is the key," Orthals said. "This is not a public works program, where the city does all the improvement, nor a 'gestapo' approach where we kick in the door and say 'fix

Landfill foes get their say Pollution Board to hear appeal

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — George Moran, a retired Madison County Circuit Court judge, went to bat for area environmentalists during a hearing Friday that appealed the Madison County Board's approval of a landfill site.

The appeal, which will be considered by the Illinois Pollution Control Board, was heard by Allen Schoenberger, a law professor at Loyola University in Chicago.

Moran said the board's approval in November of a 210-acre recycling center was a violation of the Endangered Species Act.

The center is to be operated in the Horseshoe Lake area of Nameoki Township by Environmental Control Systems, Inc.

Moran tried to enter into evidence recent documents from the Illinois Department of Conservation. A copy of a letter addressed to ECS from the conservation department stated the proposed site was "improper."

Moran also had a copy of a study of the Horseshoe Lake Recreation Area conducted by an agency for the Department of Conservation.

The items were rejected as evidence, however, because state law forbids the submission of new evidence at such hearings, Schoenberger said.

'Grantwriter' to seek funds for schools

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — With an eye toward getting a share of "millions of dollars in available grants" that go unclaimed, the Granite City School District has created a new position.

Dr. Goni Michaeloff, who was formerly principal at Marshall Elementary School, has been named to the newly created position of grantwriter, with an office at the district board office on Adams Street.

According to Superintendent Gib Walmsley, Michaeloff was chosen for the position because of her proven ability in oral and written communication. She started in her new position last week.

"It's an experimental position," Walmsley said. "Some time ago, one of the board members suggested we try having someone work as a grantwriter to try and get after the money available from the federal and state governments."

"Dr. Michaeloff has a doctorate in speech and theater arts and seemed to be right for the job."

Walmsley said the move is a lateral one for Michaeloff and that, if the experiment doesn't work out, an administrative position will be found for her somewhere in the district.

Walmsley said Walter Whitaker, formerly an assistant principal at the high school, has been named to replace Michaeloff at Marshall.

Panel probes O'Donnell death

By David Migoya
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Two family members of a Belleville real estate developer found dead in a Collinsville motel last November testified Thursday before a Madison County grand jury investigating his death.

It was the first of what may be six weeks of testimony concerning the Nov. 17 death of Frank O'Donnell Sr., 61.

Sources close to the investigation said 30 to 40 witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify including Collinsville businessman Gary Fears, who was a sometime business partner with O'Donnell and is listed as his largest creditor in bankruptcy papers.

O'Donnell's 81-year-old mother, Mildred O'Donnell and father-in-law, Charles Stegmeyer Sr., were among those who testified Thursday.

"I just want all of this to be over with," said Joyce O'Donnell on Thursday. She is O'Donnell's widow. "It's the last thing you ever expect to happen to you."

She did not testify Thursday, although she spent the day waiting to do so.

Joyce O'Donnell said she had been as cooperative as possible with both investigating authorities and the media, although she's had next to no communication with law enforcement officials.

"I don't know what else I can tell," she said of 17-year search ends; mother found

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Della Thrasher forgot to buy her mother a Valentine's Day card until the very last minute.

"I'm not used to having that family yet," she said. "It's still pretty new."

After a 17-year search that led Thrasher through four states, she found her mother Jan. 26. The biggest surprise, Thrasher said, was that her mother was living only 85 miles away.

In 1944, Thrasher's parents, Arthur and Katherine Cox, were divorced in St. Louis and she and her brothers John, Charles and Vernon stayed with their father. Soon after, they moved to the Bootheel area of Missouri.

A younger brother, Eugene, stayed with Katherine.

Thrasher and her brothers never heard from their mother again. She said she often wondered where her mother was, and started searching in 1973. In 1979, Thrasher's father died and she said she began to search in earnest.

"I'd had a copy of a marriage license for my mother's half sister for about 20 years. She'd married a man from Bells, Tenn., so I wrote a letter to the city hall there," Thrasher said.

This feature will run in the Journal, as space allows, for the duration of the war in the Persian Gulf. Those who wish to submit similar announcements may bring them to the Journal newsroom. The items will be run in the order submitted.

Kenneth Ferro, U.S. Army

Maj. Kenneth Charles Ferro had already shared "a box of treasures from home," including his mother's cookies, with members of his MASH unit when he wrote his parents on Jan. 11 from Saudi Arabia.

A veteran of the Vietnam war, he is directing a hospital operation in Operation Desert Storm. He is the son of Pete and Evelyn Ferro of Granite City.

Ferro grew up in Granite City and attended the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois at Carbondale. He earned his master's degree from the University of San Antonio, Texas.

"It's been 19 days since we arrived in Saudi Arabia. It's cold at night," Ferro wrote his parents. "We had a good rain last week, but the dust has returned. Our hospital has been put up and I am sitting in an old tent complex. We have some very good people here and we're all trying to come to grips with the very strange situation. Most have adjusted well. This is the biggest challenge of my career. Meals are decent and we have milk, juice and fresh fruit."

"There is little recreation and we don't know how long we'll be in our present location. Our sense of humor must sustain us." In addition to a tour of duty in Vietnam, Ferro also served in Munich, Germany, where he was in charge of the medical clinic. He and his wife, the former Patti Schultz of Joliet, have two daughters, Dana and Toni. The family resides in Columbus, Ga. Ferro would be glad to hear from anyone wishing to write, his parents said. Mail may be sent to: Major Kenneth C. Ferro, 1st Medical Co., 2nd MASH, APO New York 09657.

John Douglas, U.S. Marines

Pfc. John David Douglas arrived in Saudi Arabia on his 19th birthday, Feb. 6.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, the Marine is the son of Louise McAneny and the late John W. Douglas, USMC retired. He is the stepson of Laurence R. McAneny and brother of Lisa R. Oliver of Granite City.

He graduated from Granite City High School in May 1990, having joined in September 1989 under the Corps' Delayed Entry Program. He completed boot camp at the USMC Recruit Depot in San Diego in August and received further instruction at the Armored Vehicle Training School, Fort Knox, Ky.

Mail can be addressed to: PFC John David Douglas, USMC, CRC 8 CRR, FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96608-9660.

What's New Coming In Your Journal

New fire approach

The fire department has switched from a reactive to a proactive approach to fighting fires under the administration of Chief Jerry Wallace. Prevention activities, equipment purchases and maintenance, and education and training were highlighted in Wallace's activity report for the fire department for calendar year 1990. See Wednesday's Journal.

No heat

One Granite City resident was left without heat in his apartment during last week's frigid weather as a result of a continuing legal battle involving his landlord.

Arrested after crash

Linda K. Ferris, 40, of the 1400 block of Iowa Street was driving north in the 2600 block of Madison Avenue when her car allegedly struck a pickup truck parked outside the residence of Ronald D. Hall at 3:11 a.m. Feb. 9.

Ferris was taken to police headquarters and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident. After posting $102 bail, she was released pending a hearing.

Street light, pole struck

A woman, whose car allegedly struck a street light and telephone pole, suffered an injury at 1:52 a.m. Feb. 9.

Brenda W. Dixon, 38, of the 5100 block of Lewis Avenue was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and leaving the scene of an accident.

An officer reported seeing the street light and utility pole broken off and laying against a chain-link fence in the 2500 block of West 20th Street.

Wires to the pole were stretched across the street and a piece of a vehicle, believed to be from the car that hit the pole, was found in the street.

A section of fencing was damaged at the residence of Robert Smith, police said.

While officers were at the accident scene, a car matching the color of the part found in the street

Dogs available at city pound

The Granite City Animal Control Department reports it had 10 dogs as of Feb. 14. Persons wishing to reclaim or adopt one should call Animal Control at 432-6233. At the pound are:

A small-sized male brown mixed breed found in the 1700 block of Cleveland Boulevard.
A large female brown/black mixed-shepherd found in the 2500 block of E. 24th Street.

A small male tricolor beagle found Feb. 13.

—To the patients of Dr. Anthony Morrison—

Dear Friend:

My late father, Doctor Anthony Morrison, considered his patients, "friends" as well as "patients". and because access to an experienced and competent obstetrician and gynecologist has become so difficult in this area, I am happy to tell you that such an obstetrician/gynecologist is moving to Collinsville, to take over his practice and will be available to you, on or about, February 1, 1991.

Doctor Jorge Covarrubias was trained in obstetrics and gynecology at the Jewish Hospital in St. Louis, after serving two years medical internship at the Missouri Baptist Hospital. He has been in private practice in Phoenix since 1979 and is happy to be able to return to the middle west, near the home of his wife, who grew up in Farmington, Missouri.

Doctor Covarrubias will work in my father's offices in Collinsville and Granite City.

You may have a prompt appointment by calling 618-798-3745 for an appointment in Granite City or 618-344-3800 for an appointment in Collinsville.

Sincerely,

Caroline Morrison M.D.

drove past. The auto had front-end damage and police stopped the driver, Dixon. She had blood around her mouth and requested medical attention.

Taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by an officer, she was examined but declined treatment. Dixon was booked and posted $302 bail.

4 charges include DUI

Officers reported seeing a black pickup truck disobey a flashing red light at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues at 2:20 a.m. Feb. 7.

A police car followed the vehicle south on Madison Avenue to 20th Street, where an officer alleged the truck again passed a stoplight.

The officer followed the truck to Curt's Restaurant, 1623 Madison Ave., where the driver, Thomas R. Wood Jr., 28, of the 3000 block of Sinclair Street told an officer he had no driver's license.

A computer check revealed Wood's license had been suspended.

He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, failing to stop at a red light, failing to stop at a red flashing light and driving while his license was suspended.

Wood was released after posting $302 cash bail.

Inmates halt hunger strike

Seven Madison County Jail inmates who lived on junk food for two weeks have ended a hunger strike protesting alleged racial bias in the criminal justice system.

"Maybe they did what they wanted to do in getting their information out to the public," said Lt. Ed Newsome, jail superintendent. "They're starting to eat regular food again."

The seven inmates started eating regular meals Tuesday, he said.

The seven had been eating nothing but chips and snack cakes because they claim blacks are being unfairly treated by jailers and the courts, Newsome said.

As many as 30 inmates refused to eat regular meals two weeks ago, but the number had dwindled to seven by the end of last week.

They first stopped eating meals because of reports that a white jailer yelled racial slurs Jan. 27. The inmate who reported the slurs recanted his story, Newsome said.

The inmates say whites are more likely to receive bond reductions or be released on recognizance than blacks. They also charge the Madison County public defender's office delayed their trials.

Nine inmates, including some of the former hunger strikers, filed a lawsuit against the jail and the public defender's office, citing similar charges.

Madison County Circuit Judge Edward Ferguson, chief of the circuit's criminal division, said no efforts will be made to speed up cases because of the strike.

"I don't know any of the specific names of the strikers," Ferguson said. "If a defendant is ready to go to trial, then a date will be set. That's up to him and his attorney."

Welfare numbers up in Madison County

Welfare recipients are on the rise in Madison County, state figures show.

Madison County experienced a 10 percent increase, said Dean Schott, a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

In Madison County, 24,646 people joined the AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) rolls in December, compared with 22,448 in December 1989.

Figures released by the Illinois Department of Employment Security last month showed the jobless rate in Madison County dropped during December.

The average monthly check for an Illinois family receiving AFDC assistance is about $340, Schott said.

Statewide, there was a 5 percent increase in the AFDC rolls during December compared with December 1989.

"Manufacturing and non-manufacturing jobs are down," said Velda Gerstenecker, an analyst with the Illinois Department of Employment Security.

As the economic picture worsens and more jobs are lost, Gerstenecker said, more and more people sign up for AFDC and food stamps. Local businesses, especially in the service sector, begin to suffer as a result of the lost income.

The trend does not bode well for the state, either, as revenues begin to drop and expenditures for public aid jump, Gerstenecker said.

Last week, Illinois State Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch warned that the public assistance rolls were swelling, putting additional strain on an already weak budget.

The number of food stamp recipients in Madison County is up, from 20,975 in December 1989 to 22,488 at the same time in 1990.

In December, Public Aid spent about $200 million on the AFDC and food stamp programs statewide, a $27 million increase from December 1989, Schott said.

Asbestos lawsuits settled

EDWARDSVILLE — Ten area men are awaiting checks from out-of-court settlements with asbestos product manufacturers.

The settlements halted jury selection for a trial on the lawsuits, which had been consolidated.

All 10 men alleged they are suffering from asbestosis, a lung disease, because of exposure to asbestos while working at Granite City Steel.

The settlements with 14 defendants ranged from about $60,000 to about $110,000, according to Lori Scott, a paralegal with Barton and Budd, the Dallas law firm that represents the men.

Not all 14 companies were defendants in all of the cases.

"We were happy that all of our clients could settle without going through a trial," Scott said.

The settlements were reached Thursday. Scott said the 10 men were either employees of Granite City Steel or worked for other companies that did contract work at the mill. Most are laborers, she said.

Phyllis Tarrant of Godfrey, whose husband, Larry Tarrant, 48, was one of the plaintiffs, said her husband was happy to have the case resolved. "I think everyone was pretty relieved," she said.

Tarrant said she did not know exactly what her husband's settlement would be. He expects to receive it in several months, she said.

Tarrant said her husband still worked at Granite City Steel, where he has been employed about 27 years. The only symptom of his illness is shortness of breath, she said.

The other plaintiffs were Louis Zeff, 81, of Granite City; Harold Wright, 51, of Greenville; Norman Wheelan, 55, of Beckemeyer; Earl Walker, 56, of Madison; Harold Thiel, 39, of Granite City; Danny Sidwell, 39, of Pontiac; Edward Schmidt, 58, of Granite City; and Darrel Rutledge, 67, of Granite City.

CHARLES DOWDY displays the framed document that he hopes was really signed by Abraham Lincoln.

Rich and famous 'Box of junk' could be Abe Lincoln document

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Charles Dowdy of Sinclair Avenue hopes he has a story that will make him rich and famous.

But, he said, no matter what, it has been fun while it lasts. Several years ago, Dowdy bought a "box of junk" at an auction. Inside, one of the items was a very old handwritten copy of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

It was in a frame and Dowdy hung it on the wall in his bedroom.

"It's signed Abraham Lincoln, but I never thought about it being the real thing until recently," he said. "My daughter read about some Lincoln document being found and being worth a lot of money, so she called me and said, 'Dad, maybe you've got something.'

Dowdy started looking for someone who could tell him if what he had was really written by Lincoln.

"I tried a lot of people," he said. "They all said it was really old — you can see the paper breaks like glass — but they said I needed to have an expert look at it."

So, on Friday, Dowdy drove to Springfield to have a Lincoln expert check it out.

"I don't have the kind of luck to ever get rich," Dowdy said. "So I'd be surprised to find out it was real, or worth anything."

"But, it has been great to sit around and think, 'Maybe it is really something special,' even though it's not."

911 committee to hear equipment presentations

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Two companies will get a chance to tout their emergency telecommunications equipment before the Madison County 911 Committee later this month.

During a meeting of the committee Thursday, members agreed to hear presentations from two of three companies who submitted equipment bids last month. Both companies will give presentations Feb. 28.

Emergi-Tech will present at 10 a.m. and Motorola at 1 p.m. Highland Police Chief William Pierce, who chairs the group's equipment committee, said members are already leaning toward Motorola.

Pierce pointed to the size of Motorola's company.

"I've got nothing against small business that's (making sales) how they get to be big business," Pierce said of Emergi-Tech. "I'm just concerned."

Members were surprised to learn however that Motorola has sold and installed only two or three emergency systems; a business, the company has entered into only in the last six months.

Emergi-Tech has installed at least 50, according to Jim O'Loughlin, one of the project consultants.

Only one or two of those systems, however, are in an area comparable to Madison County, O'Loughlin said.

In another matter related to the 911 service, the change in rural addresses continues. Because of the addressing process, more than 1,200 road signs are expected to be replaced in rural areas.

Pending an opinion from State's Attorney William Haine and approval by the Madison County Highway Department, the committee approved the purchase of 2,400 six-inch signs.

Members said they were unsure whether 911 funds could be used to purchase the signs.

Half of the 2,400 signs are to be duplicates for replacement purposes. The total cost of materials for the project, posts and signs, is $49,242.

The highway department will make the signs, saving 911 the cost of labor.

Stan Giffhorn of the highway department said when the rural road identification system was started in 1978, the federal government provided a duplicate of each sign.

"If one was stolen or damaged it could be immediately replaced," Giffhorn said. "We found that to be very helpful."

The six-inch signs would replace the current 12-inch signs which bear a grid number in 4-inch lettering and the road name in 2-inch lettering. The new signs would drop the grid number and bear only the road name in 4-inch lettering.

Giffhorn said St. Clair County officials are using the same kind of new signs, opting against the use of grid numbers.

Because of rural addressing, current signs could not be used because they contain incorrect grid numbers.

Those officials also said the use of the grid numbers made the signs "cluttered and confusing," he added.

Pierce argued the value of the grid number, a theory contested by member Elmer Moehle of the Worden Fire Department and Mike Fruth, a county board member and Pin Oak Township highway commissioner.

Godfrey Fire Chief Terry Ford, chairman of the committee, suggested that areas where a grid number might be needed could be accommodated by using a smaller sign bearing that number placed beneath the road sign.

Correction

Consolidated Aluminum retains ownership of only 40 acres of land at the former site of Dow Chemical and Conaleo, located north of College and Madison streets in West Madison.

A story appearing in the Feb. 10 issue of the Sunday Home Journal incorrectly stated that Consolidated Aluminum still held title to all the property.

W.A. Barnes, president and chief executive officer of Spectra Aluminum, the property lies near Rogan Street within the Madison city limits. The city recently issued a building permit to the contractor.

The remaining 40 acres are vacant land without any buildings on the property.

When SCI purchased the 80 acres of land from Conaleo on Dec. 6, 1988, his company declined to buy the remaining 40 acres, Barnes said.

A new $225,000 office-laboratory complex will be constructed by C.D. Peters Construction Co. on the Conaleo site for Consolidated Aluminum. The property lies near Rogan Street within the Madison city limits. The city recently issued a building permit to the contractor.

Women of Achievement have had big impact in Illinois

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

Whether it be for humanitarian concern, historic preservation, civic betterment or other efforts, the Women of Achievement awards recognize women from the St. Louis bi-state area who have made extraordinary contributions to the community.

Metro East has been lucky enough to produce four who won distinction as Women of Achievement in recent years.

In 1988, Anne Lew Williams of Collinsville won for her tireless dedication to the preservation of the Cahokia Mounds Historic Site.

She was 97 years old when she received the award; she had worked for the preservation of the Cahokia Mounds for most of her life.

She died in 1989. She had begun efforts to turn the Mounds into a state park in 1923, when she was president of the Collinsville Women's Club, said Lou Stehman of Collinsville, a friend of Williams' since the early 1920s.

"She went to Springfield in 1923 with her father to talk to the governor about the Mounds and in those days women weren't allowed to do a lot," Stehman said. "I think it was a pretty brave move."

Williams was even more

Helen M. Bergfield
... honored in 1989

involved in Red Cross blood drives.

Granite City produced a Woman of Achievement in 1989 — Helen M. Bergfield. She won for her work with the Auxiliary program at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

Bergfield, 81, said the auxiliary program was begun in 1960 by baking cookies for the hospital. Now, after 31 years, it has developed into a coffee shop, gift shop and other projects that bring more than $800,000 into the hospital each year.

"When I won the award I didn't really think I deserved all the attention, but when I looked back at all that was accomplished over the years, I was proud," Bergfield said.

Helen Delicate, 84, of Edwardsville spent most of her life working for the welfare of others.

Last year, she won the Women of Achievement award for social responsibility.

In 1938 she volunteered to work with the Red Cross. She was instrumental in establishing the League of Women Voters in Edwardsville, helped form the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council and founded the Madison County Historical Society.

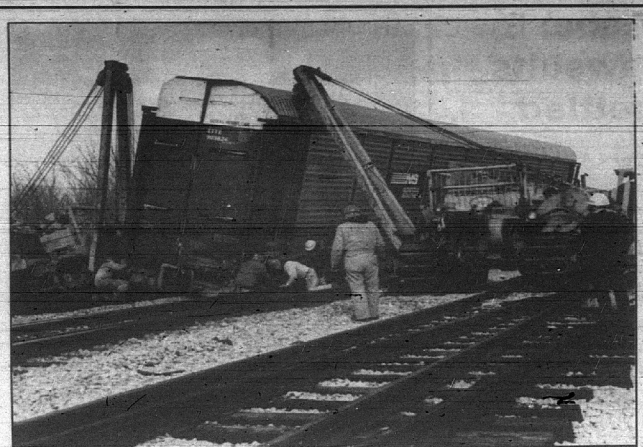

Belleville's Aliene Auner has been involved in so many organizations that she often jokes that she is a professional volunteer.

Auner, 63, also won last year, for humanitarian concerns.

As president of the board of directors of the Women's Crisis Center in Belleville, she helped raise $500,000 to turn the old Belleville Shoe factory into a shelter for battered and abused women.

"I think a Woman of Achievement should be a person who is giving of herself in every way, whether it is money or time — a person who shares herself with others," she said when she won.

Ten Women of Achievement awards are presented annually.

DERAILED: Workers from the Norfolk and Southern Railroad attempt to get a car back on track following a derailment in Mitchell, about one-half mile north of the Interstate 270 overpass. Six cars jumped the track Friday morning. Workers on the scene said the cause of the derailment is still being investigated. The car shown was transporting automobiles.

Home builders planning Expo '91

With a new name — Home Builders Expo '91 — more exhibitors than ever before, and expanded display areas, the Home Builders Association of Southwest Illinois promises area residents its biggest and liveliest home show ever.

The annual event will again be held at the Belle-Claire Exposition Hall, Illinois 13 and 158 in Belleville.

Home Builders Expo '91 will be open Friday, Feb. 22, through Sunday, Feb. 24.

Admission is $2 for adults; children under 12 are admitted free. Parking is also free. Home Builders Expo '91 promises something for everyone, whether people rent or own their own home.

There will be ideas and information on the products and services provided by area professionals in construction and related industries, as well as by top area retailers. More services available to homeowners will be featured than ever before.

Over 200 individual booths with displays and demonstrations from over 135 exhibitors will offer suggestions, products and insight into the newest technology in construction and remodeling.

Financing information will be available at booths manned by financial experts and lenders in the banking and savings and loan sector.

Again this year, a comprehensive agenda of free seminars will be offered, with nine seminars planned for Saturday morning and afternoon and five planned for Sunday morning and afternoon. Seminar topics and demonstrations will range from kitchens and baths to landscaping, interior design, and how to improve water for better living.

A new entrance to the display areas will greet those attending, and there will be an expanded and more open format, particularly for viewing the Builders Showcase section of the show.

Women of Achievement

Nominations are now being accepted.

The Suburban Journals and KMOX Radio are proud to sponsor the 1990 Women of Achievement Awards.

Women of Achievement give unselfishly of their time and energies to help people in need and to improve the quality of life in their communities. They work without urging, without pay and usually without recognition.

A committee of community leaders will choose ten honorees to be recognized at the Women of Achievement luncheon this spring. Nominations should include the nominees full name, address and phone number; information on her achievements; support letters from the organizations she serves, if possible; and your name, address and telephone number.

Metro East waste plans beat deadline

Three Illinois counties are in the lead in meeting state requirements for adopting a solid-waste management plan partly because of assistance from the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

St. Clair, Madison and Monroe counties have met deadlines for adoption of a solid waste management plan that tells how the counties will manage waste for the next 20 years.

Those deadlines are outlined in the 1988 Illinois Solid Waste Planning and Recycling Act requiring plans for the state's largest counties by March 1.

Michael Neechval, manager of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's solid-waste management section, said last week that St. Clair and Madison counties were among only three of the state's largest counties so far that have adopted plans before the deadline.

The other county is Lake

County in the Chicago metropolitan area. Other counties may adopt plans by the deadline, he added.

The plans show how the counties will recycle at least 15 percent of their garbage by the third year of the plan and 25 percent by the fifth year.

The council, which is the metropolitan area planning agency for the eight-county St. Louis region, began assisting the counties three years ago after they banded together to develop the plan. The plan was finished last June.

"Based on what we've seen, we're satisfied with the work that East-West Gateway did," said John Baricevic, chairman of the St. Clair County Board in Belleville.

Baricevic said "implementing the plan particularly involves the cooperation of municipalities in the county and the general public. You can't force people to recycle," he said.

Mike Coulson, manager of environmental planning for the council, said the agency's work with the counties on developing a solid-waste plan actually extends back even further to 1985. "We were ahead of the state law," Coulson said.

So far ahead in fact that the deadline for a plan that would cover more rural and less populous Monroe County is not until 1993, Neechval said.

The plan developed for the counties was based on developing a "waste management park" which would place a recycling and composting plant and a modern landfill in one area.

Another plan recommendation was that each community, village and township in the counties have a recycling program. The counties also should continue to evaluate a waste-to-energy plant.

Baricevic added that updating the plan is expected to be ongoing.

Workshops set for disadvantaged

The Illinois Department of Transportation, Bureau of Small Business Enterprises, is holding a series of workshops for disadvantaged/women-owned business enterprises.

The schedule includes:

Feb. 20 and 21, Holiday Inn, Collinsville, 1000 Eastport Plaza, Collinsville, Ill. 62234, 345-2800 or 1-800-551-5133.

The 1991 winter workshop series 4, The Ladder to Success — A Practical Approach, will provide practical information and training in the management and supervision of office personnel and job crews.

Included will be a step-by-step session on estimating and bidding techniques. Also featured will be a training session on marketing techniques, including development of a videotape advertising the services of individual firms.

The first day of each workshop will conclude with a mixer where subcontractors, prime contractors and IDOT personnel can become acquainted, share and develop working relationships.

A $25 non-refundable registration fee covers the two-day workshop, instructional materials and the mixer. Participants are responsible for reserving their own hotel accommodations.

Due to the limited slots available, registration is required. Admission will be made on a first-come, first-served basis. Workshop participants will receive state rates at the designated hotels, provided they have room reservations in advance. Workshop registration will be accepted at 785-8372.

Girl Scout director named

Mary C. Griggs has been named executive director for the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council in Edwardsville. She replaces Donna J. Lowry who retired in December 1990.

Griggs has been active in Girl Scouting as a girl, a volunteer, and an executive staff member for 25 years. In her 16 years as a staff member of River Bluffs Council, she has held the positions of property/camping services director, field director, program services director and director of membership support services.

Over the years, she has developed outdoor education programs such as the Discovery Center, supervised camp property improvements and programs, written and implemented volunteer development and training programs, established programs for drug, abuse prevention, and increased the number and quality of programs in areas of the council which are difficult to serve.

Local doctor nominated for state physician award

Dolores M. Cantrell, M.D., of Granite City is one of many Illinois family doctors nominated by patients and peers for the Illinois Family Physician of the Year Award.

The honor is bestowed each year by the Illinois Academy of Family Physicians to the physician who best exemplifies the tradition of the family doctor. The winner will be recognized during the IAFP's annual meeting Aug. 1 to 4 at the Hyatt Regency, Chicago, said a spokesman at Schaumburg.

Nominations were received from patients, office staff and colleagues throughout the state. The many letters and testimonials conveyed the esteem and affection patients and peers have for their family physicians.

The physician selected for this honor must be in active practice; spend at least 50 percent of his/her time in direct patient care; be a member of the Academy; maintain a hospital and office practice; and be a participant in community issues.

The Illinois Academy of Family Physicians is a 2,000-member professional medical society dedicated to maintaining high standards of family practice in medicine and surgery. To retain membership, family doctors must keep up-to-date on current medical advances by taking continuing education courses.

The IAFP is a constituent chapter of the American Academy of Family Physicians, the second largest medical association in the country, with 71,000 members.

Obituaries

Sparks

Walter C. "Dick" Sparks, 79, of Mitchell died Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 13, 1991, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. He entered the hospital after becoming ill two weeks ago.

He was supervisor of Chouteau Township from 1947 until April 1949, during which a highway department garage was built and a combination town hall and social center was constructed.

He previously was the Chouteau town clerk for 10 years, a member of the former Madison County Board of Supervisors from 1967-72, and served for a number of years as the District 16 member of the Madison County Board after that board was created in 1972.

Born Sept. 26, 1911, in Poag, he attended Poag Grade School, Edwardsville High School and the St. Louis School of Welding.

Mr. Sparks lived in the Quad City area for nearly 30 years and was the owner and operator of the D and J Mobil Service Station from 1957 to 1979. He had been employed as a sheet metal worker, a pipefitter, a welder, and a Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad worker.

He was a member of the former Mitchell School District board and the former Poag School District board.

Past master of Edwardsville Masonic Lodge 99 and past president of the Quad Cities Gasoline Dealers Association, he was a member of the Mitchell Presbyterian Church, Scottish Rite of Southern Illinois, Chouteau Township Senior Citizens, Mississippi Valley Consistory, Gabriel White Shrine of Jerusalem 78, Township and County Officials of Illinois, Illinois Sheriffs Association, U.S. Civil Defense Council, Lewis and Clark Historical Society, Sheet Metal Workers Local 888, the United Plumbers and Steamfitters, and Teamsters Local 971.

Survivors include his wife, Hazel R. (Hudson) Sparks, whom he married June 6, 1930, in Mitchell; two daughters, Katherine Miller and Jo Ervay, both of Granite City; four sons, James Sparks and Robert Thomas, both of Granite City; Gary Thomas of Mount Olive, and Leonard Yelton of Osage Beach, Mo.; one brother, Marion Sparks of Murray, Ky.; 10 grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his first wife, Laverna Sparks, who died in 1979; his parents, Fred and Cora (Hanks) Sparks; and a sister.

Visitation was held Friday at Thomas Memorial Mortuary, Granite City, where services were conducted Saturday by the Rev. Linda Shugert. Burial was in Wanda Cemetery, near Edwardsville. The family suggests memorial to Mitchell Presbyterian Church.

future testimony. "I've told them (police) all I know. Anything else is what I read in the newspaper."

The investigation surrounding the 61-year-old developer's death began several weeks ago, after a St. Louis judge ordered O'Donnell's body exhumed for an autopsy. Records show a lethal dose of barbiturates was found in O'Donnell's body.

O'Donnell was lying on a bed in a room at the Quality Inn in Collinsville, apparently the victim of a heart attack. No autopsy was performed even though unattended deaths generally are investigated.

A New Jersey-based insurance firm that underwrote a $1 million life insurance policy on O'Donnell prompted the investigation. The beneficiary of that policy has not been released by investigators.

The couple's two sons, Mark, 18, and Brian, 15, as well as Joyce O'Donnell's brother, Belleville attorney Charles Stegmeyer Jr., and Donald Soffer of St. Louis, a business associate of O'Donnell's as well as executor of his $800,000 estate, also spent the day at the courthouse without testifying.

Anthony Tumminello, a St. Louis attorney who represented O'Donnell on several land deals also is expected to testify. His testimony could solve the mystery behind a pair of wills O'Donnell wrote two years ago but filed just two weeks apart.

Tumminello was named executor in the first will and on Wednesday confirmed he was subpoenaed to appear before the

Gerboe

Julia A. (Kostecki) Gerboe, 76, of Granite City, formerly of Madison, died at 6:36 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 14, 1991, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She had been ill since October and in the hospital since Feb. 7.

She was born Dec. 3, 1914, in Flat River, Mo., and lived in Granite City most of her life. She was a homemaker and a member of St. Elizabeth Church.

Survivors include her husband, James Gerboe, whom she married May 16, 1933; one daughter, Stephanie Koenigman of St. Louis; one son, Michael Gerboe of Collinsville; and one sister, Mary Fincher of Glen Carbon.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Steve and Anastasia (Dumiak) Kostecki.

Visitation will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. with a preliminary service at 6 p.m. (today) Sunday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road. Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Church, with the Rev. Frances Tebanoga officiating. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, near Edwardsville. The family suggests memorial to Masses.

Full

Everett William Full, 77, of Granite City was pronounced dead at his home at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1991, by Deputy Coroner Ed Werner.

Mr. Full was born March 24, 1913, in Carnak, Ill. He was a machine operator for A.O. Smith Corp. in Granite City for 19 years, retiring in 1972.

Survivors include his wife, Kathryn (Bishop) Crite Full, whom he married Sept. 3, 1937, in East Alton; one son, the Rev. Edward Crite of Edwardsville; four daughters, Iona Stiles of Bloomington, Ill., Doris Jean Denton of Thebes, Ill., Doris Kockum of Jefferson City, Tenn., and Carolyn Hayner of Boyington, Fla.; one brother, George Full of Hartford; and one sister, Alice Holtman of Wood River.

Grassroots

Upcoming meetings of Quad-City Area governmental taxing bodies include:

Granite City Council, 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 19, City Hall, 2000 Edison Ave.

Madison City Council, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 19, City Hall, 1539 Third St., Madison.

Madison County Board, 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, County Courthouse, Edwardsville.

Venice School Board, 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, Board Office, Broadway and Seventh Street, Venice.

Madison County Board, 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 21, Board Office, 1707 Fourth St., Madison.

Landfill

Moran also claimed that two Namekiki property owners were not notified of the county's intentions as required by state law.

Despite lengthy argument from attorney Thomas Long, representing EGS, and Assistant State's Attorney Lewis Mallott, representing the county, Shoenberger allowed testimony from Allen Martin, director of the Madison County Maps and Plats Division.

Martin's testimony concluded that the two parcels in question were within 250 feet of the center of the property and those landowners should have been notified.

One of the properties, owned by Harold and Laverne Ord, was "easily within 250 feet" of the site and may even share a corner, Martin said. Another piece of property, owned by Louis and Peter Denning, was also included in that range.

Moran also maintained that the notice for the Sept. 26, 1990, public hearing was misleading as it described only a recycling center. The center also includes a 62-acre landfill.

About 25 residents attended the hearing, with some giving testimony.

Joan Hendrickson of O'Fallon who performs the Madison County spring bird count in that area, said at least six species of endangered birds could be lost if the landfill is built.

State establishes child care resource, referral service

By Bob State
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Area families in search of child care services can now turn for help to a statewide resource and referral service.

The service, only the eighth statewide program of its kind in the country, will provide information to parents on the availability, cost and nature of child care providers in the family's general geographic location.

Child Care Resource and Referral, a program of the Children's Home Aid Society of Illinois, based in Granite City, will serve the East St. Louis Region, one of 16 regions statewide. Already on line, CCR&R serves seven counties in Illinois, as well as providing services to families who live in Missouri but work in southern Illinois, according to Ken Phillips, regional director of CHAI.

Residents of Madison, Monroe, St. Clair, Bond, Clinton, Randolph and Washington counties are now able to call a toll free number and ask specific questions regarding their child care needs. Information will be available for a wide-range of services, such as latchkey, day camp, licensed and license-exempt home providers, as well as full service facilities.

Agency personnel can also enter any information given by the caller (for example: location, hours, costs, behavior and learning disorder programs, foreign language programs and religious affiliations) on a central computer system and provide a referral list, usually consisting of three child care providers in the area which meet the criteria.

The toll free number is 1-800-467-9200. Program personnel are on duty Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Calls will also be taken from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Thursdays, beginning March 7. Families will be charged a sliding scale fee for use of the services.

The fee scale ranges from no fee for low-income families to $30 for families with an annual income of $10,000 more. The fee entitles the participant to a full year of services.

In addition to increasing accessibility and providing information for parents, organizers hope the program will increase existing support for child care providers; assist businesses and industry in providing employees with child care alternatives; and encourage community planning for child care by identifying which communities need additional facilities.

Phillips said there are 5.6 children in need of child care for every day care vacancy in the seven-county region.

Sue Suter, Department of Children and Family Services director, said planning for the resource and referral network began in 1988 under a grant to CCR&R from the American Express Foundation. Start-up and development operations were directed by the United Way of Chicago through a contract with the state Department of Public Aid. Pending approval of its budget by the Illinois General Assembly, CCR&R will fund and administer the network starting July 1. Cost to maintain the program in the East St. Louis region is expected to be approximately $194,000 annually.

An advisory board, consisting of public agency representatives, care providers, doctors, lawyers, child care center directors and users, has been established to guide the program.

Anthony Jenkins, regional administrator for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, characterized the program as "a giant step for Illinois."

"It places us on the leading edge of consumer oriented child care services," he said.

Downtown

"We put together the resources to create momentum and enthusiasm."

City staff begins by inspecting the neighborhood and noting residents of code violations and possible areas of improvement.

Williams said specifically is important.

"If we just go out and tell someone to fix it," he said, "they are not likely to react in the same manner as if we give them a list. If we say, 'this porch needs paint and the facing on the southeast corner needs repair,' they are likely to respond."

Orbals said he was surprised to find a lower percentage of downtown buildings in compliance with city codes than those in East Granite (prior to the pilot program).

"But," Williams added, "the majority don't need that much work. A Saturday afternoon with a couple of gallons of paint could solve a lot of problems."

The resources available for improvements include Madison County Community Development Weatherization and Housing Rehabilitation programs; a home improvement package established specifically for the targeted area by local lending institutions; $100,000 more in retail hardware stores; and a low-interest loan program through city funds for code deficiencies.

Orbals said a new "deferred loan" program is being considered by the city for the targeted area. Under the plan, low-income residents, subject to city approval, will be provided a loan at zero percent interest, to be paid back when and if the owner sells the home.

"If the loan is for $1,000, and the owner sells the house in 50 years, the city will be paid back $1,000 in 50 years," Orbals said. The program could also be made available to moderate-income families at a rate of three percent.

Orbals also said a "safe street" program is being considered to cut down on traffic by arrangement of street patterns.

Search

The city clerk in Belts thought she recognized the name and, after confirming it by checking a tombstone at a local cemetery, went on to find out there was a living relative in Baton Rouge, La.

"Bells is a very small place. I think about 1,000 people, and everybody knows everybody," Thrasher said. "So she was able to just ask around."

The relative in Baton Rouge put Thrasher in touch with Virginia Shannon in Cloquet, Minn., another half sister of Katherine. "She knew right where my mother was — Elvins, Mo. — only 85 miles away," Thrasher said. "It was hard to believe, but she had been there all those years and we didn't know it."

So on Jan. 26, Thrasher and her brother John, also of Granite City, met their brothers Vernon and Charles Cox, now of Garden City, Kan., and they all went to meet their mother.

"By closing off the end of some streets, we can change the traffic from a grid pattern to more of a subdivision pattern," he said. The concept is similar to what has been done in the Central West End in St. Louis and other rehabilitated areas.

Just as the East Granite Neighborhood Association was a key factor in the success of the pilot project, Orbals envisions the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society as an important tool to help build a better downtown.

"The DNRS is a strong and stable force, and has been around for a long time," according to Orbals. "We think it can and should be built upon."

Orbals and Williams said the program in East Granite is not yet over. Another inspection and notification is scheduled for the spring, to provide residents "last time shot" at improvements.

"The new target area is approved by the council, inspections will begin about April 1, Williams said.

They also met Eugene Cox, their baby brother who now lives in Ironton, Mo.; their stepfather Harry Smith; a half brother, Frank Smith; Flat River, Mo. and two half sisters, Norma Henson and Stella Galvin of Elvins.

Thrasher said she has gone back to Elvins "just about every weekend" and that the entire family is planning a reunion this spring.

"It's just about impossible to believe," she said. "All those years she was right there. I still can't believe it."

Church Women to hold Day of Prayer for world care

The Quad City Church Women United will hold its annual World Day of Prayer, March 1. The theme will be, "On the Journey Together."

The event will be held at St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church, 2200 Grand Ave. Registration and fellowship will be at 9:30 a.m., and worship will be at 10:30 a.m.

The guest speaker will be Cecilia E. Anderson, minister of Christian Education at St. John Church of Christ in Manchester, Mo.

Anderson served through the Division of Overseas Ministries of the Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, from 1968 — 1974 and again from 1978 — 1981. The overseas work was done in Zaire, Africa.

This year's service was written by women from Kenya, West Africa. Its theme, "On the Journey Together," inspired the authors to travel extensively throughout their country talking and listening to their Kenyan sisters share the stories of their lives. The global service of worship they created has woven the joys, pain, concerns and sorrows of these women into an experience that reflects what Kenyans call "Harambee," or a spirit of togetherness. It is a call for women to be caring of others as they "journey" together and work for political, economic and social progress in their lives.

Church Women United, since its founding in 1941, has been the official sponsor of World Day of Prayer in the United States. Each year, CWU prepares and distributes the worship resources for more than 6,000 U.S. committee and churches where the event is observed. Church Women United is the ecumenical movement that brings Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other religious women together into one community of prayer, advocacy and service. It represents a broad spectrum of religious traditions, race, age, economic status and ethnic background and works through a national unit, 52 state units, including those in greater Washington, D.C. and Puerto Rico, and 1,750 local units. Unified by a common faith in Christ, the women of Church Women United work for the elimination of poverty of women and children and issues of justice and peace.

Church Women United is celebrating its 50-year journey toward justice.

Student art work displayed at Washington University

The jury for the 12th Annual High School Art Competition sponsored by Washington University School of Fine Arts voted to accept and display 26 pieces of art work from Granite City High School students.

The competition was stiff because all high school juniors and seniors within a 100-mile radius of St. Louis were eligible to submit their works.

Slices of the students' art work had to be submitted for judging in order to be chosen as an exhibitor.

Senior Nathan McClain and Young Mi Suh had been selected as portfolio semifinalists, and each exhibited 10 pieces of art. As a result of the exhibit, McClain was named a finalist and was awarded a scholarship from Washington University.

McClain was selected from among 16 semifinalists. As a finalist, he also received a bronze medal.

This is the 10th year Granite City has entered the contest.

The students having single pieces of work exhibited were:

Jennifer Aubuchon, John Lantrip and Shawn Martin. Senior Lee Baker had two pieces exhibited. Art teachers at the high school are Tony Betancourt, Ann Rich and Phyllis Weiss.

Warriors stun Tigers in GT, 92-90

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Some guys just don't know when to quit. Put the Warriors on a team right at the top of the list. The season had taken an ugly turn recently, but Granite City turned things around in a big way Friday, stunning the Edwardsville Tigers 92-90 in overtime at Joe Lacco Gymnasium. Jeff Smith came through like John Havlicek used to for the Celtics, hitting two buzzer-beaters — a rebound basket to tie the game as regulation time expired and a layup a split second before the buzzer in overtime for the win.

It would have taken a plastic surgeon to remove the smiles from Warrior players, coaches and fans after this one. Granite City moved back over the .500 mark at 11-10 while the Tigers fell to 18-9 with their first home loss of the year.

"I've never hit two baskets like that in the same game," said Smith, who finished with a career-high 34 points. "Even when we were down in the fourth quarter I thought we had a chance. I hope this turns the season around for us."

The Warriors, who had lost twice previously to the Tigers, trailed 76-64 after Jason Heien hit the first basket of the fourth quarter. And practically the whole Warrior team was in foul trouble. In fact, all five players on the floor had four fouls when the game ended. But the Smith twins, Skip Birdsong and Bob Thomas combined for 90 of the 92 points.

"It has something to do with character," said coach Bill Ohlendorf. "We didn't execute as well as we should have early when we really could have had a big lead. Then they came back and got ahead of us and we could have folded."

The Warriors led 20-10 before the Tigers scored seven points in the last minute of the first quarter. Then the teams traded baskets for much of the next two quarters. Both Smiths picked up their fourth foul in the third quarter as the Tigers took a 40-point lead. Joe Blasingham hit four three-pointers in that quarter as he finished with 29 points.

But the Warriors bounced back. Birdsong's three-pointer cut the margin to 43-39, then Jeff Smith tied it with 2:30 left. Edwardsville took a four-point lead, but Thomas hit a three-pointer with 39 seconds left and Ryan Suess made one but missed his second. The Warriors threw with 29 seconds left.

The Warriors were setting up a final shot, but Ohlendorf called timeout with seven seconds left just as Jay Robertson let it fly. It hit nothing but net, but the timeout nullified the basket.

"We didn't want Jay shooting the ball in that situation, but you knew it would go in when I called the timeout," said Ohlendorf. "Then we were looking for the three-pointer. We wanted to win it there."

Birdsong's three-pointer was off the mark, but Jeff Smith was there to put the rebound in as time expired.

Edwardsville went with their delay game at the end of regulation and again in overtime. Jason Boyd scored first, but Brian Smith responded for a 90-90 tie. Then the Tigers held the ball until the final 10 seconds when Heien penetrated the lane and dished it off to Boyd. But it went off his hands and out of bounds with six seconds left.

The Warriors broke the pressure nicely and Birdsong moved into the lane, drawing two defenders. That left Jeff Smith wide open on the right wing and Birdsong dumped it off to him for the easy layup as time expired.

"Granite City is just about the hardest team to play on in the state," said Edwardsville coach Mike Waldo. "Columbia is very tough, of course, but Granite City has those outstanding post players. They handled the ball very well against our pressure. That was probably the difference between this game and the first two times we played them. Their point guards got the ball up the floor, and Birdsong and Thomas made the perimeter shots."

NOTES: Venice's 14-game winning streak ended in the final regular season game, an 88-77 loss at East St. Louis Lincoln on Friday. Ivan Johnson had 27 points and Erwin Claggett had 24 for the Red Devils (22-4). Marlow Ferguson led Lincoln (10-9) with 21 points. The Tigers led 45-33 at halftime. Madison (15-7) lost 85-84 at Teutopolis (23-1). In soccer, the Warriors lost 8-1 to Desmet on Friday in the first of a two-game quarter-final series. The second game is Monday at 8:45 p.m. at Quincy Park.

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

CHAMPAIGN — Mike Garland was feeling the affects of a long day Friday evening.

Only one of his four state qualifiers survived the first day of the state wrestling tournament. Sophomore Pat Scheffer (103 pounds), who was pinned by Ben Tammara of Arlington Heights Hersey 7-0, battled back to win his wrestling match 11-2 to keep his chances alive to win a medal heading into Saturday's competition.

"It's always nice to reach the second day of the tournament," Garland said. "Pat got a second chance and he made the most of it. But he went up against a real tough customer in his first match. The guy just overpowered him. I'd be surprised if (Tammara) doesn't win the title."

Unfortunately, juniors Ryan King (112), Chris Hoffstot (135) and Jerry Heubuschman (140) were all eliminated in the first round. King lost to Victor Spillman of DeKalb 7-2, Hoffstot got shut out by Steve Gerstung of Arlington Heights Hersey 7-0, while Heubuschman got whipped by Mark Serbick of LaGrange 9-4. None of those three Warriors had any luck when the wrestlers had beat them lost in the next round, thus eliminating them.

King finished at 35-4, Hoffstot was 36-4 and Heubuschman was 36-6. Scheffer took a 33-8 record into Saturday.

"I told those guys that they can't put their futures in the hands of someone else," Garland said. "You can't depend on getting a shot in the wrestling. You can only depend on yourself at state. It was a pretty hard day, but Pat's victory lightened the sting."

Joe Weir (160) of Belleville East moved into the semifinals by knocking off Kamau Akbar of Proviso East 17-6, while heavy-weight Rozell Baker of Belleville West missed the tournament for disciplinary reasons.

"It's a matter between the school and Rozell," Belleville West coach John Wehmeier said. "I have no further comment on the situation."

The Chokila Comanches made an impressive showing by advancing four wrestlers into Saturday's action. Chokila advanced three to the final four, while 145-pounder Donald Roberts, who suffered his first loss of the year — moved his way into the wrestlingbacks with a chance to place.

Roger Harris (119 pounds, 40-1) and Maurice Hickman (189-41) were impressive in victory, but it was Donnie Thomas who caused the biggest surprise by pinning Eric Rodriguez of Round Lake in 1:28 and squeaked out a 6-4 decision against K.C. Messia more of Providence New Lenox.

Thomas, who finished third at the Granite City Sectional last week, marched his way into the semifinals by posting three victories. He manhandled Charles Washington of Chicago Bogan 19-5, set a state record by pinning Eric Rodriguez of Round Lake in 1:28 and squeaked out a 6-4 decision against K.C. Messia more of Providence New Lenox.

"Donnie's effort is just an example of what hard work will do," Bement said. "He's been wrestling hard in the room and the results are showing. I still can't believe it, but I felt he had a possibility in the back of my mind. He's been wrestling extremely well, and his performance goes to show that anything can happen at the state tournament."

LINCOLN AGAIN: Lynn Crawley of Belleville West pulled this rebound away from East St. Louis Lincoln's Angenette Sumrall, but the Tigertettes avenged their only loss of the season by beating the Maroons 37-25 on Thursday in the Granite City Sectional finals. Lincoln (24-1) was ranked second in the state and West was No. 1. The Maroons came in with a perfect 28-0 record, but lost the defensive struggle to the Tigertettes before a crowd of approximately 1,300 in Memorial Gymnasium. The game was tied 19-19 after three quarters. Sumrall led the Tigertettes with 11 points and 11 rebounds. Lincoln will play Mattoon (25-2) in the Benton Super-Sectional on Monday.

Trojans, Red Devils favored in regional

By Dave Whaley

DUPO — As usual, the favorites are reluctant to look too far ahead. But all signs seem to point towards a Venice-Madison final in this week's Dupo Class A Boys Basketball Regional.

The road to the state tournament officially begins Monday when Dupo (8-11) and Lebanon (12-12) meet in the first game of the regional. The winner of that game faces the top-seeded Trojans (15-6) on Wednesday. Venice (22-3) will face Freeburg (14-10) on Tuesday following the matchup between Alhaff (14-7) and Lovejoy (6-12). The winners of those games will meet the championship winner for the championship at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

WGNM-A (920) will carry all games involving Madison and Venice live.

"We like being the underdog," said Venice coach Clinton Harris. "But although seeded second to Madison, the Red Devils will go in as the favorites to reach the Varsity Sectional."

"We're ready for the regional," Harris said. "The guys have been talking about it. But any team is a threat. Alhaff can hurt you with three-pointers (18 in one game in Granite City this year) and Lebanon can be dangerous. And even Dupo beat Lebanon this year."

Lebanon won the regional last year with a mostly senior lineup. But Doug Schieppie is the area's leading scorer (27.3) and Chris Brefeld had 43 in a game in Madison this year. Alhaff and Freeburg have won 14 games each, so the regional is a minefield for any team expecting to have a cakewalk.

But the local Class A Regional is notoriously tough. In the 19 years of Class A basketball, the winners of the regional have won its sectional 14 times. And nine times the winner has advanced to state. Madison did it five times, winning two state titles (1977 and 1981) and finishing fourth once. Venice has gone to state three times, with two state titles (1975 and 1987) and finishing third once. East St. Louis Assumption made the state appearance in 1989.

Madison and Venice have won the regional 16 of 19 times. After Lovejoy won in 1972 the Devils won three straight, then the Trojans won 10 straight before Venice came in with three more. But neither team has won it the past two seasons.

Game 5: Game 2 winner vs. Game 3 winner, 7:30 p.m.
Friday, Feb. 22
Championship
Game 1 winner vs. Game 5 winner, 7:30 p.m.
Winner advances to Vandalia Sectional to play Morrisville Regional winner on Feb. 26.

"It wouldn't surprise me if one of the other teams came out of this regional," said Trojan coach Al Collins. "Venice will have to beat a couple of good teams in Freeburg and Lebanon just to get to the final and Lebanon is starting to jell."

"Collins is concerned with his team."

"Our kids just don't seem ready to play the regional yet," he said. "We have the ability, but we keep having problems with grades and in-school suspensions. If we can get our heads together, we have the talent to win."

"If that happens, Collins isn't conceding the favorite's role to Venice."

Briefly

'Desert Home Front' to give aid

'Area residents can show their support for Operation Desert Storm troops, raise money to benefit the families of area troops and have a great time at today's Desert Home Front Benefit. The event will be held from 2 to 10 p.m. today at Walton's Entertainment Center, 1200 Centerville Ave. in Belleville.

Continuous live entertainment by bands Austin Renegade and Spur, dancers from Becky Kern's Dance Studio, clowns and magicians will be provided. County Board Chairman John Barcic and Belleville Mayor Richard Brauer are scheduled to speak, and local auto dealer Jamie Auffenberg will be making a special announcement. Walton's also will be offering food and refreshment specials.

Admission is a donation of $4. All proceeds will go to provide emergency monetary assistance to immediate family members of Metro area military personnel and war casualties of Operation Desert Storm.

Desert Home Front organizer Dotti Earp's husband, John Earp, is serving in the Persian Gulf. Earp and several of the groups who are sponsoring Desert Home Front also were instrumental in an earlier effort, Operation Desert Care, that sent loads of needed items to servicemen in the Persian Gulf.

Tickets are available at the door; from any sponsor; at the St. Clair County Veterans Assistance Office, 14 E. Main St. in Belleville; at the Veterans Outreach Information Center, 1220 Centerville Ave. in Belleville; Auffenberg Belleville or the St. Clair Auto Mall.

Donations are being accepted at Magna Bank, 19 Public Square. Checks or money orders should be made out to Desert Home Front.

'Pvt. Wars' to be performed

The Student Experimental Theater Organization of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will perform James McLure's one-act comedy, "Pvt. Wars," at 7:30 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, Feb. 28-March 2, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 3, all at SIUE's Metcalf Theater.

The comedy, which takes a wry view of the effect of war on the human spirit, is one of three productions staged by SETO each season. For reservations or for more information, call 692-2773.

Concerts slated

Sugar Minott and Abashanati will perform at 9:30 p.m. Feb. 28 at Mississippi Nights. Tickets are $10 in advance or $12 the day of show.

Harp Attack 1991—the St. Louis Harmonica Convention will appear at noon March 2 at Mississippi Nights. Tickets are $10 in advance or $12 day at the show.

The Coteau Twins with guest Galaxie 500 will play at 8 p.m. March 12 at the American Theater. Tickets are $18.50 and $16.50.

Foggy River Boys to perform

COLLINSVILLE—The Collinsville Lions Club of Collinsville will present the Foggy River Boys annual music show March 22 at the Collinsville Gateway Center.

This will be the seventh year that the Lion's Club will sponsor the fund-raising event.

A dinner will be served at 6 p.m., followed with the Foggy River Boys moving to the center stage at 7 p.m. Those who do not wish to have dinner may purchase general admission tickets for the show only.

The Foggy River Boys, from Branson, Mo., provide family entertainment. They were established in the 1940s and today the repertoire includes virtually every style of music.

For 20 years the Boys have owned their own 300-seat theater in Branson, where they present their music show every night (except Mondays), April through November. During the winter months they tour the country giving concerts in cooperation with civic clubs, schools and conventions.

Proceeds from the show will go to help the Collinsville Lions Club fund a number of community projects, including helping people with sight and hearing impairments, research, and the control of diabetes, the number one cause of blindness.

Tickets may be purchased from any Lions Club member or by calling one of the following numbers: 345-8431, 344-3264, 344-1069, 344-2884.

Busch Gardens to hold audition

Busch Gardens of Tampa, Fla., will hold auditions for singers, dancers, musicians, actors, comedians and variety performers, stage technicians, seamstresses and wardrobe dressers for the African-themed park's 1991 season on Monday, Feb. 25, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Hyatt Regency at St. Louis Station.

For more information, call 813-987-5302.

Apollo 15 astronaut to talk

Apollo 15 astronaut James B. Irwin, retired Air Force colonel, will present a program about his experiences in space at the St. Louis Science Center in Forest Park.

Irwin's presentation, "Destination Moon," will be at 7 p.m. Thursday (Feb. 21) in the McDonnell Star Theater. The free event is cosponsored by the St. Louis Association of Space Enthusiasts.

Irwin, one of 12 astronauts who waited on the moon, will provide an in-person film narration of his experiences during the 1971 moon mission, followed by a question-and-answer session. An autograph session will be held after the presentation.

Irwin is president of High Flight Foundation and the

Zoo sets programs

The education department of the St. Louis Zoo has lined up a variety of offerings for its spring adult and family activities. Registration is under way.

Adults will have the opportunity to learn about the tuatara, the only surviving representative of a reptile group otherwise long extinct; or, enjoy dinner and an evening tour of the Flight Cage and Bird House with the curator of birds.

Advance registration is required by calling (314) 781-0155.

author of three books. Irwin's appearance coincides with a moon rock exhibit in the Science Center's free Exhibit Gallery. The rock, about 4 million years old, was collected during Irwin's mission. The rock will be on display through Sept. 2.

Seating for Irwin's presentation is limited. Doors open at 6:30 p.m.
